REMISSIONING COLLECTIVE

About the Collective

We have gathered genuine practitioners who have experienced and are leading the hard work of remissioning in their established churches over the last few years and developed a 30-week collective learning experience that has:

- Practiced and tested tools
- A growing network and community of leaders who are doing the work
- Experienced coaches to support and encourage the process

Core Competencies

- Being a Disciple
- Creative Destruction
- Traditioned Innovation
- Discipleship Pathways
- Remissioning Leadership

Primary Learning Outcome

The primary learning outcome for our training is to help you recalibrate your church around missional presence, tackle the old policies and outdated procedures, and honor the past while innovating towards the future. The Remissioning Collective helps you and your church to bear new fruit and live on mission.

LEARNING OUTCOMES

Our training modules are framed around the following 5 competencies

Being a Disciple

Leadership that acknowledges limits and the habits of the cross that can lead to resurrection. Seeking to be a disciple before making disciples.

Creative Destruction

Learning how to put the narrative of life, death, and resurrection into real-time practice.

Traditioned Innovation

Holding the past and future in creative tension and learning to live more fully in the present activity of God.

Discipleship Pathways

Organizing your teams, groups, and committees around a framework of movemental discipleship rather than duties for service. Utilizing time-bound experiences as pathways into neighboring, missional living, and the discovery of new ways of leading.

Remissioning Leadership

Recognizing that every event, ritual, program, and tradition ultimately shapes a church's mission. Discover thoughtful habits of pruning so that a gathering of people can bear good fruit again.

The Mission

'Iwa Collaborative exists to empower kingdom-grounded leaders to navigate change, grow adaptive capacity, and foster local flourishing.

About Us

Leaders and organizations often have to hold two things together: a bird's eye view of the whole of their work and a rootedness on the ground born out of deep relationships in people's lives.

The 'iwa (pronounced ee-vah) bird flies so high to look for food and pay attention to its surroundings that it can soar for days or weeks. However, the 'iwa bird will eat with other birds and nest low to the ground.

We specialize in helping communities to center discipleship and make discipleship pathways to connect disciples to their local mission. And, we help remission established organizations that are trying to adapt their culture to seek the flourishing of their local communities.

Whether your church, business, or non-profit is looking for help to see the big picture or make a plan to change things on the ground we want to help you mature from the inside out.
